Mr. Frank Roberts died at the old place on Meredith Neck where he was born and where he spent all his days, the 2nd inst., aged 47 years. His sickness, pneumonia, was of brief duration, assuming a serious form from the very beginning. He was an industrious, hard-working man, giving his entire attention to farm life. His make up was of a quiet and retiring character. His voice was never heard much on the street. He was a man of few words, was much at home, attending to his home affairs. A few years since he married the daughter of Rev. Mr. Shattuck. He leaves no children. His three brothers, George S. of Chicago, Ebenezer of Massachusetts, and O. Nason of Meredith, with their wives, were all present at the funeral. This is the first break in the family of four boys. The funeral was attended by Elder D. Leavitt of Ashland.

COMMENCEMENT.

The Town Hall was crowded to the doors last Friday evening, on the occasion of the closing exercises in connection with the High School and Grammar School. James Estes, Fred Brown, Leslie Berry and Howard Woodman acted as ushers, and they were in despair long before the commencement of the exercises, the supply of seats not being equal to the demand. It is estimated that about 600 persons were in the hall. The proceedings of the evening were carried out on a more elaborate scale than ever before attempted in Meredith. The hall had been decorated in a very tasty manner, and the stage was laden with beautiful flowers. Chase's full orchestra (Harold Chase, W. J. White, Robert Foss, Roy Bickford, Clara Hoyt and Mrs. W. J. White) occupied the stage, upon which were also seated Rev. Mr. Bard, L. G. Burnell, Principal Morrill and the High School graduates.

The exercises held the rapt attention of the audience from start to finish, and every participant was heartily applauded. Handsome bouquets were presented to Frances Louise Dexter, Catherine Ella Burnell, Carrie Belle Cox and Lettie Ettie Berry. Miss Millie Corliss' essay was an admirable production, as was also Miss Catherine Burnell's. In fact the essays were all of a high order.

The programme in full was as follows:

Selection, orchestra; prayer, the Rev. G. I. Bard; chorus, "The Banner of the Free," Richards, the school; essay and salutatory, "Interest in Our Schools," Millie Maude Corliss; essay, "The White Mountains," Frances Louise Dexter; song, selected, Miss Elena B. Cram; essay, "Labor Omnia Vincit," Katherine Ella Burnell; essay, "Work While You May," Carrie Belle Cox; song, "Star of My Heart," Denza, F. H. Osgood; essay, "Commercial Prosperity of the United States," Oscar Guy Piper; essay, "Art Decorations in the School," Lettie Etta Berry; essay and valedictory, "The Open Door," Fred H. Piper; ode, Katherine Ella Burnell, class of 1900; presentation of diplomas; chorus, "Wedding Chorus," from "Erminie," school; selection, orchestra.

The graduates were as follows:

High School—Katherine Ella Burnell, Lettie Etta Berry, Millie Maude Corliss, Carrie Belle Cox, Frances Louise Dexter, Fred H. Piper and Oscar Guy Piper.

Grammar School—Grace Frances Thurston, Merton Edwin Meserve, George Aaron Smith, Lillian Maud Beatrice Lance, Harry Paine Woodman, Donna Emily Adams, Donna Emily Adams, Orin Green Skeels Burnell, Marion Anna Colburn and Ralph Herbert Williams.

The presentation of diplomas was performed by Principal Morrill. He addressed a few words of advice to the recipients, and then distributed the documents that become the property of those who observe the motto taken as a subject for Miss Burnell's essay, "Labor omnia vincit."

At the conclusion of the above exercises a social promenade was indulged in.

One of the features of the evening was the singing by the High School graduates of the following

CLASS ODE.

Written by Katherine Ella Burnell.

Now our school days here are ended,
And we go our different ways,
In our hearts there'll ever linger
Many words of love and praise.
And in years which are to follow,
Though the Fates may sorrow bring,
Let us not forget our motto:
"Labor conquers o'er all things."

Classmates, dear, of nineteen hundred,
As we go life's journey through,
We can conquer, with our labor,
Every work we have to do.
And if faithful to our duties,
In the end a crown we win,
Bearing in our minds our motto:
"Labor conquers o'er all things."

To much praise cannot be given to the indefatigable secretary of the Board, E. Carleton Mansfield, in regard to the manner in which the affair was inaugurated and managed. With the hearty co-operation of L. G. Burnell and Principal Morrill, nothing was left undone to show that the money granted for school purposes has been productive of good results. The expense of the costly programmes was defrayed by the three gentlemen above mentioned and in numerous other ways they evinced their interest in the work with which they have been entrusted by the tax-payers.

Rents are on the decline in Stevens avenue. A young man with an ear for music and a set of bass lungs is struggling with a clarinet, and as a consequence the neighbors are taking to the woods.

A wedding occurred in the office of City Clerk S. C. Frye, in Masonic Temple, Laconia, Saturday evening, the contracting parties being Miss Olive Frances Bennett, of Meredith, and Arthur Elbridge Rideout of that city.

An exchange says: Parties wishing to enter the printing office at this season should be governed by the following rules: Advance to the inner door and give three distinct raps or kick the door down. The devil will attend to the alarm. You will give your name and post-office address. He will admit you. You will advance to the centre of the room and address the editor with the following countersign: Extend the right hand about two feet from the body, with the thumb and finger clasping a $1 bill, which drops into the extended hand of the editor, at the same time saying: "Were you looking for me? The editor will grasp your hand and bill and pressing it will say: "you bet!" After giving him the news concerning your locality you will be permitted to retire with a receipt for an obligation properly discharged.

CARD OF THANKS.

The Soda that sells on its merits is Sanborn's

The News is pleased to announce that work on the B. M. Smith Memorial Library building will begin at once. The contractor arrived in Meredith Tuesday and will issue a call for workmen at once. Later—Work commenced Wednesday morning.

A rattling game of baseball is booked for Saturday on the Hawkins grounds between the Ashland and Meredith teams. It will be remembered that the visitors defeated Meredith 12 to 4. Will they repeat the performance Saturday? Nit!

Those warranted pocket knives etched with Sanborn's guarentee are on the road from the factory.

At the meeting called for the purpose of making arrangements for an Old Home Week, only two responded to the patriotic call, Geo. F. Sanborn, first selectman, and Dudley Leavitt, master of Winnipesaukee Grange. But hold! We are mistaken! The janitor of the hall was also present.

The ladies of the Baptist Society will serve ice cream and cake at their Vestry, Friday evening, June 22d. A short literary and musical programme will be given. A collection of the Perry pictures, now so widely and favorably known, will be for sale. They are so inexpensive that everyone can afford to have them. Admission, including ice cream and cake, 10c. Everyone welcome.

A new invoice of those delicious Apollo chocolates at Sanborn's drug store.

"In what year were you born?" asked the enumerator.

"In 1846" answered the lady.

"Then you are 54" said the enumerator.

"Indeed I am not, I am 52," she retorted sharply.

"And yet you were born in 1846?"

"That is what I said sir."

"Then you must be 54."

"No 52."

"Well, but how do you account for the additional two years?"

"I dont account for them. I dont have to. It's none of my business. I was born in 1846 and I am 52 years old, and that is all there is about it. I dont know my own age I suppose." This closed the incident.

JUDGE BURNHAM.

(Nashua Daily Press.)

A writer in the Emerald, a Catholic newspaper published at Manchester, tells the readers of that paper that Congressman Sulloway has been a Free Trader, a greenbacker, a Cleveland Democrat and a little of everything in politics and religion and opines that the voters of that borough—although Cy has been a little more circumspect in his language since last election, and, the Emerald man might have added, hasn't gone back on anyone so far as heard from, except Brother Dawson of the Budget—have no use for him in the office of United States senator. Then the writer says this:

"The other candidate in the field as already stated is the Hon. Henry E. Burnham. His record stands out prominently before his fellow citizens. He has always been a member of the party and at all times worked hard for its success. He is an able lawyer and an orator of great ability and if he is the choice of the coming legislature, New Hampshire will have every reason to feel proud of her son. He will not be carried away by every wind of political doctrine. His party principles will in the future as in the past be his guide, tempered with that calm conservatism that the brilliant and practical lawyer brings to bear on all questions left to his judgement. The position this time belongs by right to a Manchester man and such being the fact, Judge Burnham to my way of thinking should be Manchester's choice. So long as the opportunity presents itself to our citizens to make a selection let them do their duty in an efficient manner and no one can gainsay their action if they place to the front as their standard bearer, the Honorable Henry E. Burnham."

The foregoing reminds us of some conversation a day or two ago with a Nashuan, a former mayor of Manchester, who said, and he wasn't talking for publication: "I have known Judge Burnham more than 40 years. I heard his first speech when he was a student. I know he is an honest man, a learned man and that he would represent New Hampshire in the United States senate with dignity and ability. I believe he is the choice of the people and I hope to see him chosen." The speaker sincerely voiced the sentiment of every man who is acquainted with the judge, who believes that the first city in the state is entitled to the senatorship.

Hon. S. S. Jewett of Laconia has issued a letter denying that he has withdrawn from the Congressional canvass. The News thinks that Mr. Jewett is making a serious mistake, one that he will be sorry for later on. He certainly has a large number of friends in Meredith and vicinity who are working hard for him, but our advices from other sections, with the exception of Sandwich, show that he has no chance whatever of securing the nomination. If he persists in staying in the field the effect will be simply to assist Candidate Elwell's chances, and perhaps defeat Dr. Greene, without benefitting himself or the lake region in the least. Dr. Greene was first in the field, and the retirement of Col. Jewett would assure his nomination. As the News has remarked before, Mr. Jewett is only 41 years of age and can well afford to wait. His immediate and graceful acceptance of the inevitable would benefit him immensely later on.

Senator Chandler has been made the subject of a violent attack by Charlotte Smith, a champion of working women, in an open letter. The letter is headed - "We protest! We protest! We most emphatically and indignantly protest against the autocrat, Chandler's bill." Mrs. Smith has been for years actively engaged in securing legislation for the betterment of the women employes of the Government, and Senator Chandler has introduced a bill that is hostile to her movement. It has ever been thus with Chandler. He is the enemy of working women and men and it is time that he was relegated to private life.

Our irrepressible correspondent, Tom Walker, of the Littleton Journal, is keeping his paper posted from Washington and Boston on what he doesn't know about the Senatorial situation. Naturally, the articles are long and very amusing. Tom will have his joke even if he knows that the laugh is on himself.

Great Britain is taking advantage of the war to train her men as soldiers. She has now something like 200,000 veterans, a force that no other nation in the world possesses. Even Germany, with her almost unavoidable military service, has few veterans. There is a big difference between recruits, no matter how well trained, and men who have been in a genuine campaign.

Often it is complained that the generals get all the credit while the men do the work. The South African war disproves this. Three-fourth of the British losses arose from bad generalship, while Roberts has won right along almost without a battle. To accomplish things worth fighting for them is the very highest tribute to generalship.

Britain is congratulating itself on the fact that the price that staggers humanity has not yet been paid. The total losses on both sides in the whole war have not yet been nearly as great as those in many single battles of the civil war, to say nothing of other modern combats.

Cyrus A. Sulloway is back in New Hampshire, and matters are to be arranged so that he will not have to go back to Washington.

Someone ought to inform Aguinaldo that the war is over and that Otis has gone home, as his men keep pecking away at our soldiers.

COMRADE GREENE.

The Gorham Mountaineer contains the following in its report of the Memorial Day proceedings in that town.

Commander McKeen then called upon Past Department Commander Twitchell to take the chair as presiding officer for the remainder of the evening, who after reading Lincoln's address at Gettysburg introduced J. Alonzo Greene as the orator, and no Gorham audience ever listened with closer attention, or gave evidence of more pleasure than was shown Comrade Greene through all his address. It was not only pleasing but very instructive and full of patriotic orratory which was especially pleasing to the old veterans present.

The doctor speaks without notes in a clear voice which all can hear and fully understand and he was at his very best on this occasion, notwithstanding the wetting he got while out fishing the day before. Both he and Mrs. Greene went to Randolph with the post as their honored guests.

There has been no Memorial day here when everything has passed off so well and when everyone has been so well pleased throughout the day and evening as this one, with Comrade Greene as the eloquent orator.

Nevertheless, there is something to be said for the Boxers. They are really trying to preserve their country from foreign dictation, just as our ancestors did. The present rebellion has been brought on by the shameful oppression of the German railway builders, who exaggerated even the dictatorial methods of the German army in their proceedings.

Some of the Democratic delegates propose to circumvent the greedy hotel keepers at Kansas City by taking their tents and rations with them.

Anyway, the Boer envoys are escaping a heap of trouble by being away from home.

For a short time at least the politician has had to give way to the sweet girl graduate.

Dewey has announced, it is said, that he will accept the second place on the Bryan ticket.

The Hon. Webster Davis will soon need a new lecture.

The Depth of Cyclones.

From the study of clouds Prof. F. H. Bigelow of the United States weather bureau, concludes that the ordinary cyclones which traverse our country from west to east are not more than two or three miles in depth, although their diameter is many hundreds of miles. In other words, their motion does not affect the upper regions of the atmosphere. In the case of hurricanes Prof. Bigelow finds that the depth is greater, amounting to as much as five or six miles. But the higher currents blow directly across the cyclonic and anti-cyclonic areas which produce storms and fair weather at the surface of the earth. Some of Prof. Bigelow's conclusions upset former ideas concerning the circulation of the atmosphere.

Simple Business Methods.

The recent death of a member of a Sedalia (Mo.) firm disclosed the fact that for 30 years the firm had kept no account books. It did a strictly cash business, and divided the day's receipts each night, share and share alike. When a bill of goods was purchased each member of the firm paid one-half of the money, carried in his pocket.

Railroad with Wooden Rails.

In the western part of British Columbia is a novel railway, two miles in length. The rails are made of trees, from which the barks has been stripped, and these are bolted together. Upon them runs a car with grooved wheels ten inches wide.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure by local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

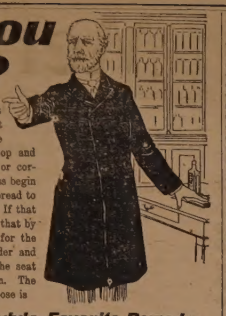
Are You Sick?



And do you understand what your real troubles are? Most people treat themselves for the wrong disease. If you will stop and think a moment, you can avoid or correct mistakes. Did your sickness begin in the stomach? Did it then spread to the Liver, Kidneys and Blood? If that is so, then you can readily see that by taking a medicine that is good for the Stomach, Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, you are sure to get at the seat of the trouble beyond question. The very best medicine for the purpose is

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

It's the pre-eminent cure for the Kidneys and Bladder. By making those vital organs well, it sifts all acids and poisons from the blood. It sets matters right in the stomach, promoting gentle, easy, natural movements of the bowels, and permanently removing the cause of Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

W. I. Miller, of Rhinebeck, N. Y., says he has used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for a number of years, and finds it the best medicine he ever used for Liver and Kidney Troubles. He recommends it highly.

A large bottle of Favorite Remedy is sold by druggists for $1, or six bottles for $5.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE.

Send your name and address to the DR. DAVID KENNEDY CORPORATION, Rondout, N. Y., mentioning this paper, and a well receive by return mail, absolutely free, a trial bottle of Favorite Remedy, and a book containing valuable medical advice, such as everybody needs.

TRY THIS TEST.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours. A sediment as the bottom or a milky, cloudy appearance indicates that the kidneys are in a dangerous condition, and that Favorite Remedy is badly needed. Healthy urine is clear and does not stain linen.

CAT'S RARE STRATEGY.

Feline Ingenuity Which Might Have Done Fair Credit to a Military Expert.

The Grand Rapids (Mich.) Herald, in telling the following story, says that it was not his size or his beauty which made him remarkable, though his possession of these attributes of feline superiority easily made him prominent among the cats of the neighborhood with whom he waged unrelenting warfare, but the fact is that he possessed a controlling mind and a strategic ability that would have made him a great commander had he been born in a more exalted sphere of life. Fur this cat, with true diplomacy, made friends with the dogs of his particular domain and went forth to battle attended by a bodyguard whose appearance inspired respect and assisted him in his combats. An English mastiff, a bird dog and a small cocker spaniel shared his meals, and later enabled him to gain victories over his hated rival, the gray cat across the street.

This cat had had many a contest with that gray cat, but the combat always resulted in a draw, because of the guerrilla tactics of his wary opponent, who preferred a short fight and a rapid dash to safety to a prolonged conflict where the superior weight and fighting ability of the cat with the controlling mind would have a decided advantage.

The thought that victory, undisputed, had never yet perched upon his banners vexed the soul of the diplomatic feline and embittered his milk and beefsteak with the wormwood of vengeance long delayed. But at last diplomacy triumphed and retribution overtook the gray prowler and disturber of midnight slumber.

One day in a fatal hour the gray cat invaded the precincts of the felines Bismarck when the allies of the latter were at hand. When he struck a sudden blow and ran a smile of joy parted the whiskers of the cat with the controlling mind, and with him the three dogs joined the chase.

Because of their superior numbers the dogs easily caught and brought to bay the gray cat and there formed a ring about him while the avenger entered the arena and began the battle. Continually driven back into the ring by the three dogs, the gray cat was unable to pursue his favorite tactics, and the result, after one of the prettiest "cat scraps" that that ward had ever seen, was complete victory for the cat with the diplomatic inclinations. Only when the gray cat, by a flying leap over the heads of the dogs, escaped did he let up in the work of righteous retribution. Then, in the consciousness of victory, the conqueror returned, accompanied by his allies, to his repast of milk and beefsteak, lord of his own domain. And the surrounding neighborhood as far as three blocks away owned his undisputed sway.

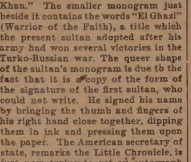
THE SULTAN'S MONOGRAM.

It Is a Queer-Looking Symbol, But One That Is Highly Esteemed by Mohammedans.

Possibly you have seen this queer looking symbol upon pieces of Turkish embroidery, for it is much used by the Turks, and Mohammedans generally, for decorative purposes. It is the autograph, or more properly speaking, the monogram, of the sultan of Turkey. It consists of the words "Abdul Hamid



THE SULTAN'S MONOGRAM.
(Counterfeiters Would Have Hard Work to Imitate It)

Khan, Second, son of Abdul Mejid Khan." The smaller monogram just beside it contains the words "El Ghazi" (Warrior of the Faith), a title which the present sultan adopted after his army had won several victories in the Turko-Russian war. The queer shape of the sultan's monogram is due to the fact that it is a copy of the form of the signature of the first sultan, who could not write. He signed his name by bringing the thumb and fingers of his right hand together, dipping them in ink and pressing them upon the paper. The American secretary of state, remarks the Little Chronicle, is just now trying to get an autograph of the sultan—on the bottom of an order for $100,000 to reimburse American missionaries whose property was destroyed in the Armenian riots five years ago.

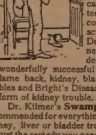
DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.



It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

KENNEL OF RATTERS.

Located on the Roof of a Down-Town Chicago Building.

Some of Its Canine Inmates Never Tread the Earth—Used to Keep a Big Department Store Clear of Rats.

A dog kennel upon the roof of a six-story building surrounded by tall skyscrapers, in the midst of the busiest portion of the business center, is one of the curiosities Chicago has to offer.

This novel kennel, says the Chicago Tribune, is located upon the roof of a prominent downtown theater and is the property of a department store immediately adjoining. It has been maintained with great success for three years.

The dogs in this kennel are fox terriers and are used by the manager of the department store to keep the place clear of rats that fairly overran the place before their introduction.

The manager claims they are superior to cats or professional rat catchers, as, unlike cats, they are cleanly in their habits, and unlike the professional rat man they do get rid of the rats that infest the place, both by killing and frightening them away.

"Before the introduction of these little four-footed guardians the damage wrought by rodents ran up into the thousands of dollars every year; now our loss is comparatively slight," said the manager.

The dogs are turned into the store by the night watchman in the evening after the last customer has gone and the last clerk has departed. They scamper up and down the aisles, nosing behind boxes, barrels, and bales of goods, keeping up a barking and yelping that frightens all the long-tails away.

They killed from 20 to 30 rats every night when they were first installed as guardians of the stock, but now their catch doesn't amount to that many a month.

They are in charge of the head janitor of the store, who sees to it they are supplied with the best of food—such as milk, meat and dog biscuits—and their bedding consists of soft woolen blankets that have been too badly damaged to be salable.

Their kennels are good wooden boxes with a door cut in one side, and are lined inside with oilcloth and woolen blankets in the winter time and oilcloth alone in the summer.

They have as a playground what the janitor calls "their park," which is formed by an iron fence about three feet in height, setting just back of the cornice facing the street on one side. Two sides are formed by the sloping sides of a mansard rising from the ground to the roof while the fourth is the gravelly roof which covers the lawn of their playground, and the fourth side is the wall of the department building.

The dogs seem perfectly contented with their situation, and evidently flourish in this high altitude. The janitor claims the dogs are much healthier than their relatives who live in kennels upon the earth, and to substantiate this claim points with pride to the fact there has never been a single case of distemper among the dogs, and he has been in charge for more than two years.

There have never been less than six and sometimes as high as 20 dogs in the kennels at one time.

Twenty litters of puppies have been born during the two years the janitor has been in charge, averaging four pups to the litter. This makes 100 dogs that have sprung to life upon the rooftop in that time, and of that number but one was lost, and it was accidentally pushed over the edge of the roof into the areaway in the rear of the building and was crushed to death by the fall of six stories.

There are at present seven dogs in the kennels, and but one of them, a bull terrier lately introduced, has ever set foot upon the ground.

Perhaps as curious as anything connected with these aerial kennels are the names the janitor, who is of a poetic nature, has bestowed upon the dogs. There are six fox terriers, the males being named "Sky," "Air," "Cloud," "Smoke" and "Vapor," while the female goes by the name of "Sunshine." The bull terrier, which is as white as bull terriers can be, bears the name of "Soot."

WAS A HOLY TERROR.

Western Bill Famed as the Very Worst of All Bad Men.

Reformed Train Robber, Who Still Is Something of a Liar, Tells Some Tales Calculated to Make the Hair Stand on End.

"Yes, sir," said the Reformed One to a Chicago Inter Ocean man, "the very worst man in the whole world was Western Bill, the terror of the Parson's gulch. His real name was Thomas Smith, and he were less like a desperado than any other man I ever saw outside of a book on the Wild West.

"He were about four feet six, with long, blondined hair and a mild eye, with a voice into him more like a woman's than any woman's I ever come across. He always wore white kid gloves, an' boots with tassels, an most generally, when he was out for gore, he dressed in a swaller-tail. If the Tuxedo coat had been invented before that man died, he'd a wore one for informal affairs. He was a stickler for etiquette, were Western Bill.

"He could do some things I never saw anyone else do. He could shoot behind him with jus as much certainty as he could shoot in front on him. He was d-e-a-d-l-y. I seen him once when seven of his enemies attacked him from behind. He didn't move for it seemed to me a long time. Then he flashed round, his revolver spoke six times, and six of the men just dropped in their tracks and lay still, each of 'em shot through the brain, via the left eye. The seventh man come on, knowing that Bill's gun were empty!

"Well, what did Bill do? He squirt vichy from a syphon at the last man and sent him running out of the place like all possessed. That was Bill—humorous, you see, and ready for a joke. And then he said to me, regretful like: 'An' I weren't dressed to receive company.' For he were in his pajamas, having got out of bed to drink with me. He were particular, were Bill, except with friends.

"I know other men, a dozen or so, has been credited with inventing the hold-up single-handed of a stage. But it were Western Bill who invented it really. He began it thus. The stage from Parson's gulch were coming downhill not far from the gulch with ten passengers and about $1,000,000 in dust in the box. Bill ran uphill toward it, put his hands on the heads of the leaders, and swung himself onto the pole, right between the wheel horses. Then he run along the pole to the driver, made him come down, and then at leisure, drove the coach to a quiet place, and went through the passengers. He told me afterward he got about $1,500,000 that haul. There were a reputed millionaire aboard, but Bill got only $10,000 out of him, and his reputation fell at once.

"Next day, the same trick were done to a stage 200 miles away! Bill again! How that man could travel.

"Well, he and Sage robbing degenerated and Bill began to rob trains. He was the original lone train robber. P'raps you've heard of him. He signaled a train one night, and when it stopped, he just up and whirl pretending to speak to the engineer, he lifted one driving wheel off the track quite careless like, and put it on the ground. Course, that just prevented the train from going on, and Bill went through it at his leisure. He took a right good sum that night, he told me.

"Now, you'll never guess what Bill did with his ill-gotten gains. He founded an asylum for retired stage-robbers, and another one for old ladies, and a third one for orphaned children of desperadoes. It was pretty to see him in the intervals of his exciting life, walking among the children in his home, or paying attention to some dear old lady—Lor' bless you, it brings the tears to my eyes now when I think of it.

"Well, well, well! It had to be! 'Twas his love for children that brought him down at last. And yet it was unintentional on the part of the child that did it, and Bill recognized that fact. One day he drove up to his home to see a child that had been ill with the grip. He were in full dress, so I knew he were busy, and he admitted he had a job on; but he were never too busy to see his friends. So he saw the little kid, and made him proud by giving him a little six-shooter and a flask. He had one fault, had Bill, if it were a fault; he couldn't forget the shop. Well, the kid were tickled to death, and insisted that Bill should eat a piece of some candy the whole push had been a-making. Bill consented, but it killed him. He choked to death on it. His last words were: 'It's better as it is.'

"Poor bill! He were undoubtedly the very worst bad man ever known in the west."

The Meredith Baseball Club plays at Laconia Saturday, June 23, and with the Alton boys at Meredith June 30.

Next Sunday will be observed as children's day at the Baptist church. A very interesting programme is being prepared, about twenty children taking part in the exercises. Chase's orchestra will assist. Exercises begin at 11 o'clock.

The NEWS received a very pleasant call from Mr. and Mrs. Geo S. Roberts, of Oak Park, Ill., Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts visited in Meredith in years gone by and have not lost their interest in Meredith yet. They arrived here in time to witness the marriage of their friend, Miss Elena B. Cram.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Cram, Tuesday evening, June 12, Miss Elena B. Cram of Meredith and Orville P. Smith of Centre Harbor, were united in marriage by Rev. J. Erskine, assisted by Rev. E. Roberts, of Oak Park, Ill., were among the friends present. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left Meredith for Boston this morning on the 6 a. m. train.

Now is the time when the sweet girl graduate must expect to bear
"The heart-ache and the thousand natural shocks
That flesh is heir to."

Because the envious editor cannot be a girl himself and receive the applause of admiring thousands. Just read what the mean man of the Detroit Journal has to say about the sweet girl graduate: See the sweet girl graduate! Is the sweet girl graduate patriotic? She is very patriotic. "I shall devote my commencement essay," she is saying, "to confronting the dangers that menace our national existence." And all the while, as we well know, the question nearest her heart is this, namely: "Can freckles be permanently removed without loss of life?"

The following conveyances of real estate have been recorded at the office of the register of deeds during the past few days:

Letter to Geo. F. Sanborn,

MEREDITH, N. H.

Dear sir,—You give full weight of good coal?

So do we—231 inches to a gallon of paint that lasts twice as long as old-fashion painter's paint, lead and oil; and allow our agent to sell it on this guarantee:

"If you have any trouble with this paint, either now in putting it on, or hereafter in the wear, tell your dealer about it.

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

We know a dealer in coal who delivered his coal with a public weigher's ticket (full weight) invited complaints, and actually exchanged the coal when complaint was made. He had half the business; a dozen firms had the other half.

We are 146 years old, but not too old to sell paint as that dealer sold coal. We like to pay damages—when there are any.

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & Co.

Hard Work and Small Pay.

Not only is diamond-cutting not a specially high-priced occupation, but it is one involving a most humiliating system of espionage to the worker. Each man has to strictly account for the stones he receives on going to work in the morning, and the count has to be carefully taken when the unfinished work is handed in at night to be locked up in a safe, against the return of the workmen the next day. The possibilities of theft are great, though a dishonest workman knows that an attempt to dispose of an unfinished stone would bring suspicion upon him wherever the attempt were made.

"To Be or Not to Be."

That is the question that concerns every mortals whether it is better to be half ill, nervous, worn out, or to be well, strong, cheerful and useful. The latter condition will be yours if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla, America's Greatest Blood Medicine,—there is nothing equal to it.

A BOER VICTORY.

London, June 12, 3:30 a. m. the daring raid of the Boers north of Kroonstad has given London such a shock of surprise as it has not experienced since the early days of the war.

The fact that between 600 and 700 British troops have been killed, wounded, and captured by the Boers is a great disaster in itself. But it is more ominous still that this raid was made right in the midst of the British military operations and that the Boers succeeded in destroying twenty-four miles of the railway line on which Roberts and all the British troops north of that point depend for their supplies.

South of Kroonstad there is a wide gap. The railway is only partially defended, and as General Kelly-Kenny has hurried all the available troops northward the assumption is that there is danger of a second raid. The loss of the Derbyshires is estimated at from 600 to 700 men.

N. H VETERANS.

A pleasing incident occurred at the recent meeting of the executive committee of the New Hampshire Veterans' association at The Weirs. Major O. C. Wyatt was presiding and Col. Natt. Shickford was secretary, and everything was going on encouragingly when Col. Shuckford said he had a communication to present to the meeting from Col. Dana W. King, treasurer of the association, of Nashua. In his message Col King said that he was sorry that sickness prevented his being present, and added that it was his painful duty to state that the association was $150 in debt.

This information concerning the finance was news to most of those present, and as was expected, considerable seriousness began to manifest itself. Col. John C. Linehan, who always looks on the humorous side of things, allowed the committee to think the matter over for a short time, and then rising, with a twinkle in his eye, remarked: "Mr. President and comrades: Don't be discouraged. I have a panacea for the financial difficulty. The honorary membership will pay the indebtedness in full, and I shall then have remaining in my hands a handsome sum to be paid over to Col. King at our approaching reunion." This information was so gratifying to the committee that they made very complimentary remarks concerning the committee on honorary membership, and gave its members a unanimous vote of thanks, with standing applause.
